IN THE SUPREME COURT OF INDIA
CRIMINAL APPELLATE JURISDICTION
SANJAY KAROL; J., NONGMEIKAPAM KOTISWAR SINGH; J.
Crl.MP. 7862 of 2017; 16 April, 2026
SHANKAR MAHTO versus STATE OF BIHAR

Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 (BNSS) – Section 482 – Grant of Anticipatory Bail – The Supreme Court granted anticipatory bail to a businessman accused of sexual harassment and rape under Sections 351(2), 64, 74, 75, and 79 of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS) and Section 67A of the IT Act - Supreme Court observed that the FIR lodged by the complainant appeared to be a "counter-blast" to an earlier FIR filed by the appellant alleging extortion - noted that prior to the FIR, the parties had engaged in meetings where a financial settlement of ₹30 crores was discussed to bring a "quietus" to the allegations - The appellant had previously filed FIR against the complainant and her husband for extortion, leading to their arrest, prior to the filing of the rape allegations - Noted that had the financial settlement reached its logical conclusion, criminal proceedings likely would not have been initiated - The complainant's FIR was filed only after the appellant refused the settlement and initiated criminal action against the couple- The Supreme Court set aside the High Court of Kerala's order - The appellant is to be released on bail in the event of arrest, subject to – i. Furnishing a cash security of ₹1,00,000/- with two sureties; ii. Complete cooperation with the ongoing investigation; iii. Non-interference with witnesses or evidence. [Paras 10-16]

ORDER

SANJAY KAROL, J.

THE APPEAL AND ITS PREVIOUS ORDERS

Delay condoned.

Leave granted.

1. While dealing with an appeal by the appellant, challenging the judgment of conviction and sentence to death awarded to him and confirmed in terms of Criminal Appeal No. 425 of 2002 passed by the High Court of Judicature at Patna, as per judgment dated 20th February, 2014, this Court in terms of the order dated 05th May, 2017, this Court noticed that inordinate delay was affecting matters in which legal aid was involved. With an intent to find out the cause for the same and issue directions as may be necessary, Ms. Vibha Datta Makhija, learned senior counsel, was appointed as amicus curiae to assist the Court. Since then, the matter has been listed on numerous occasions. By order dated 16th October, 2019 it was recorded that various deliberations had taken place across agencies including the Supreme Court Legal Service Committee¹ and National Legal Service Authority, with the learned amicus curiae, and the same had been crystallized into a note of suggestions. Notices were sent to the High Courts/State Governments/Union Territories to enable them to give their suggestions before any modalities could be finalized. The order dated 26th February 2020, and 5th March, 2020, reveals that the death reference from which the original proceedings before this Court arose was decided, and as such, this miscellaneous petition was de-tagged.

2. Order dated 19th January 2021 reads as under: -

“We have noticed that in the special leave petitions filed by Supreme Court Legal Services Committee (SCLSC) on behalf of the convicts, there is an inordinate delay which becomes difficult to condone. Needless to say, the situation brings about a lack of even handedness in dealing with matters of condonation of delay. We see no reason why these delays should continue to occur particularly with the availability of tools provided by information and communication technology which are easily available. In this matter, Ms. Vibha Datta Makhija, learned Amicus Curiae, has submitted a report dated 15.01.2021 in consultation with the SCLSC on measures to curb the delay. Valuable as that report is, we consider it appropriate to constitute a Committee comprising of certain experts who would examine all the suggestions and responses which may be received by it from the High Courts as well as the other stakeholders. In view of the other suggestions (Annexure B) by NALSA and the response submitted by various High Courts, we find it appropriate to constitute a Committee comprising of Secretary (Ministry of Home Affairs), Government of India, Director General, National Informatics Centre, Member (Process), E-Committee, Supreme Court of India and Member Secretary, NALSA. The Committee shall examine the aforementioned suggestions/responses and submit a report with regard to digitization, translation and electronic transmission of records to facilitate access to justice and timely filing of appeals/SLPs by the convicts, by utilizing the Information and Communication Technology tools, within four weeks. We have also gone through the Module and the Note dated 16.10.2019 as per the report for timely filing of appeals/SLPs of convicts through the Legal Services Institutions. We therefore direct the High Courts to submit their responses to the Committee through their Registrars General within two weeks. The Committee shall submit its report within two weeks' thereafter. The Secretary General of this Court shall coordinate meetings of the Committee....”

3. By order dated 23rd May 2025, certain questions were put to the Secretary of the SCLSC, and he was required to file an affidavit in that regard. The questions are as follows: -

- i. What is the current pendency upto 30.05.2025, i.e. out of the total requests received by the SCLSC so far. How many cases have been filed, and how many are under consideration?
- ii. What has been the year wise average days of delay in filing petitions of applicants under each category of applicants as provided under Section 12 of the Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987, after Operation Cleanup in the year 2018?
- iii. Is there adequate infrastructure and staff to deal with the load of SCLSC?
- iv. What are the reasons for delay, and how have those delays been addressed?
- v. What is the status of online connectivity between the SCLSC with other stakeholders like High Courts, Prisons, Panel Counsels etc?”

The Supreme Court Legal Services Committee, in response to the above posed queries, submitted in affidavit dated 14.07.2025, the relevant portion of which is extracted as under: -

4. The Supreme Court Legal Service Committee, sought directions from this Court in the following terms as recorded in order dated 01st September 2025. LEGAL AID: A CONCEPTUAL AND LEGAL INTRODUCTION

6. Legal aid, simply put, refers to the provision of free or affordable legal services to individuals who lack the economic or social capacity to access justice through conventional means. It rests on the idea that equality before the law must be real and not symbolic. Legal aid helps ensure that rights are not confined to those who can afford legal representation, but are available to all, including the poor and marginalized. In this sense, it plays a crucial role in making legal protections meaningful. In India, the concept of legal aid is closely tied to the vision expressed in the Preamble of the Constitution, which promises justice be it social, economic, and/or political, along with equality of status and opportunity, and affirms the secular character of the State. Social justice, in this context, requires the State to reduce structural inequalities and protect vulnerable groups from exclusion and exploitation. Legal aid contributes directly to this goal by enabling disadvantaged individuals to assert their rights and seek remedies against injustice. Political justice, on the other hand, is concerned with ensuring meaningful participation in democratic processes and equal access to institutions of governance. Without access to legal advice and representation, many citizens would find it difficult to exercise these rights effectively, whether in matters of voting, representation, or challenging arbitrary state action. The commitment to secularism further strengthens the case for legal aid, as it demands that the legal system remain neutral and accessible to all individuals irrespective of religion, ensuring that justice is administered without discrimination or bias. This commitment was given a clear constitutional expression through the insertion of Article 39A by the 42nd Constitutional Amendment Act, 1976. Article 39A directs the State to promote justice on the basis of equal opportunity and to provide free legal aid so that no individual is denied access to justice due to economic or other disadvantages. While the legacy of the 42nd Amendment remains contested because of its enactment during the Emergency period from 1975 to 1977, Article 39A is arguably one of its most constructive and enduring contributions. It firmly situates access to justice within the Directive Principles of State Policy. Over time, the Judiciary has further strengthened this framework by linking legal aid to Article 21 of the Constitution, which guarantees the right to life and personal liberty. Courts have interpreted this right to include fair legal procedures and access to legal representation, thereby reinforcing the centrality of legal aid in a just legal system. On the whole these developments show that legal aid in India is not merely a matter of policy, but a constitutional responsibility that advances the broader ideals of justice, equality, secularism, and fairness envisioned in the Preamble.

7. The development of this concept through judicial pronouncements is important to note for the purposes of the directions issued in this Judgment. At the outset, it be noted that in Sunil Batra v. Delhi Administration² held that prisoners do not surrender their fundamental rights at the prison gate. In that context, let us proceed further.

The most recognizable name in the line of cases of this Court, furthering the Directive Principles of State Policy as mentioned in Article 39A of the Constitution of India, is Hussainara Khatoon v. State of Bihar³, in which the Court held that the speedy trial to be a facet of Article 21 and free legal aid is an essential component of fair, just and reasonable procedure in law. It was emphasized that the State had an obligation to ensure access to justice and that the Court was required to take steps to provide legal representation and expedite criminal trials. Even before this, in the year 1978, this Court in Madhav Hayawadanrao Hoskot v. State of Maharashtra⁴ held that the right to counsel was a fundamental right traceable to Article 21.

We take note of another case from the same year i.e., Khatri (II) v. State of Bihar⁵ in which it was held that free legal aid is a fundamental right and that it attaches from the moment the accused is first produced before a Magistrate and not only at the commencement of the trial. Further, it was held that the right to legal aid does not depend on a request to that effect from the accused, thereby placing a positive obligation on the State to provide the same.

Most recently, this Court in Suhas Chakma v. Union of India⁶ speaking through K.V. Viswanathan, J. extensively dealt with this issue of systemic deficiency in access to free legal aid for prisoners, particularly the under trials. The Court discussed the Standard Operating Procedures prepared by NALSA, on “Access to Legal Aid to Prisoners and the Functioning of Prison Legal Aid Clinics-2022”; “Standard Operating Procedures for the smooth functioning of Under Trial Review Committees”, among others, including the e-prison module/e-kiosks in prisons. Some of the relevant extracts of the judgment including the directions issued therein are as follows: -

“Pre-litigation assistance

34. One of the important areas where legal aid, was in the initial days found wanting was in the pre-litigation arena. NALSA has risen to the occasion by introducing “Early Access to Justice at Pre-Arrest, Arrest and Remand Stage Framework”, under which all DLSAs upon receiving the intimation of request of the suspect/arrestee to have free legal assistance during interrogation, shall inform the deputed lawyer as per the duty roster. The assigned lawyer is to then to go to the police station concerned to provide legal assistance to such persons.

37. NALSA lawyers step in to obtain translated copies of documents wherever necessary; ensure that in case of a foreign national, the High Commission concerned is informed and also make submissions if the suspect/arrestee appears to be a child/juvenile. Statistics reveal that as of June 2024, 17,894 suspects have been given legal assistance at the pre-arrest stage at the police station. Of them, 7466 were not arrested. It is set out that 13,747 accused were provided assistance at the police station before producing them in courts, 94,875 at the remand stage,

² (1978) 4 SCC 494

³ (1980) 1 SCC 81

⁴ (1978) 3 SCC 544

⁵ (1981) 1 SCC 627

⁶ 2024 INSC 813

37,929 bail applications were filed at the remand stage in which 20,182 accused were granted bail. While we commend NALSA for the steps taken, we also direct that they continue to keep up the momentum and plug the gaps, if any, which they themselves have fairly identified and placed before the Court.

Directions

48. In view of the above, we dispose of the matter by issuing the following directions:

48.1. While commending the work already done by NALSA, the SLSAs and the DLSAs, we have no reason to doubt that the Legal Services Authorities at different levels will continue to work with the same momentum to achieve the constitutional objectives and objectives of the Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987.

48.2. NALSA in cooperation with the SLSAs and the DLSAs will ensure that the SOP on Access to Legal Aid Services to prisoners and functioning of PLACs are operated efficiently in practice. NALSA will periodically update and improve the measures prescribed under the SOP-2022 so as to address any of the inadequacies that may emerge while operating the same at the field level.

48.3. The Legal Services Authorities at different levels will adopt methods to strengthen the monitoring of PLACs and to review their functioning periodically.

48.4. The Legal Services Authorities will periodically update the statistical data and after analysing the results take steps to address the shortcomings that may come to light.

48.5. The Legal Services Authorities, at all levels, should ensure that the Legal Aid Defence Counsel System, which is a pioneering measure, functions to its full potential. In this regard, periodic inspection and audit of the work of the Legal Aid Defence Counsel should be carried out. Steps should also be taken to improve the service conditions of the personnel working in the Legal Aid Defence Counsel System, whenever it is felt necessary and appropriate.

48.6. For the success of the functioning of the legal aid mechanism, awareness is the key. A robust mechanism should be put in place and periodically updated to ensure that the various beneficial schemes promoted by the Legal Services Authorities reaches the nook and corner of the nation and particularly, to those whose grievances it has set out to address. Adequate literature including in the local languages in the States and appropriate promotional methods should be launched so that the consumers of justice to whom the schemes are intended can make best use of the same.

48.7. In this regard, inter alia, the following measures to create awareness could be undertaken through the length and breadth of the nation to spread the message of the availability of legal aid:

(a) In public places like police stations, post offices, bus-stands, railway stations, etc. boards in prominent places be displayed furnishing the address for contact and the phone numbers of the nearest legal aid office. This should be done in the local language and in English.

(b) Promotional campaigns in the local language be undertaken through radio/All India Radio/Doordarshan. This will be in addition to the promotional measures undertaken through the digitalisation process — like hosting of websites and prominent mention thereon on the landing page of the legal services authority wherever permissible.

(c) To create complete awareness about the existence of legal aid schemes, promotional campaigns may include such other creative measures including organisation of street corner plays (nukkad natak) in rural areas so that the poor rural masses comprehend the facility available to them through the legal aid scheme. These should be undertaken without dislocating the normal life of citizens. Further, these measures will not only create awareness about legal aid to the accused but will also create awareness for the victims and for those whose civil rights have been infringed.

48.8. The Legal Services Authorities will periodically review and update SOP-2022 for the Undertrial Review Committee (UTRC).

48.9. The huge gap between total number of persons identified by the UTRC and the number of persons recommended for release should be looked into and adequate corrective measures be taken. Similarly, the difference between the number of prisoners/inmates recommended for release and the number of bail applications filed should be particularly looked into by NALSA/SLSAs/DLSAs and adequate corrective measures taken.

48.10. The “Early Access to Justice at Pre-arrest, Arrest and Remand Stage Framework” established by NALSA for pre-litigation assistance should be diligently pursued and the work undertaken under the framework be periodically reviewed.

48.11. Interaction by the Legal Service Authorities at different levels with convicts who had not preferred appeals should be periodically undertaken and the convicts be informed of their right to free legal aid.

48.12. Periodic interaction should be held with jail visiting lawyers (JVLs) and Para Legal Volunteers (PLVs). This is to ensure updation of their knowledge so that the system functions efficiently as a whole.

48.13. Steps for continuing education of lawyers involved in prelitigation assistance and those associated with the Legal Aid Defence Counsel set-up should be provided by Legal Services Authorities. Apart from this, it should also be ensured that adequate law books and access to online libraries are available to lawyers engaged at the pre-litigation assistance stage and those involved with the Legal Defence Counsel setup.

48.14. Periodic reports should be submitted by the DLSAs to the SLSAs and the SLSAs to NALSA, if not already done. NALSA should digitise the whole process whereby at the Central level NALSA can, on the click of a button, get details of the updates done by SLSAs and DLSAs on regular basis.

48.15. The Union of India and the State Governments shall continue to extend their cooperation and assistance to the Legal Services Authorities at different levels for the effective implementation of the measures taken by them.

48.16. We direct the Registry to forward a copy of this judgment to all the High Courts in the country. The High Courts may consider the feasibility of issuing a practice direction to the effect that all courts including the High Court while furnishing the copy of the judgment of conviction/dismissal/reversal of acquittal/dismissal of bail applications, may append a coversheet to the judgment informing the convict about the availability of free legal aid facilities for pursuing higher remedies. The coversheet may set out the contact address and phone number of the legal aid committee attached to the court for seeking appropriate guidance. Similar information may be made available in the notices issued to the respondents by the courts concerned in appeals against acquittal. The High Courts may on their webpage carry information about the legal aid facilities available in the State.”

DELIBERATIONS AND THE RESULTS THEREOF

8. The purpose of the deliberations before this Court should aim to take forward the position as it stands after the above judgment. The end result of the continued deliberations carried out by Ms. Makhija, learned amicus curiae has resulted in the preparation of the following Standard Operating Procedure, duly seconded by Ms. Aparna Bhat, learned senior counsel for SCLSC and Ms. Rashmi Nandakumar, learned counsel appearing for NALSA.

“STANDARD OPERATING PROCEDURE (SOP) FOR TRANSLATION AND TRANSMISSION OF RECORDS FOR FILING LEGAL AID APPEALS AND SPECIAL LEAVE PETITIONS (SLPS), 2025

1. OBJECTIVE

1.1 The primary objective of this SOP is to establish a structured, efficient, and accountable framework for the timely translation, transmission, and monitoring of case records in legal aid

- (i) Minimise delays in the legal aid process by setting clear timelines and responsibilities.
- (ii) Ensure high-quality, accurate translations of judicial documents to facilitate effective representation.

- (iv) Incorporate digital tools for real-time tracking and transparency.
- (v) Uphold constitutional principles under Articles 21, 39A, and 142 of the Constitution of India, ensuring access to justice for all legal aid beneficiaries.

DIRECTIONS AND CONCLUSION

10. We have given careful consideration to the SOP and the proposed directions. We are of the considered view that this SOP is a result of in depth deliberations conducted by the "stakeholders" or "major players in the game", that being the case the same deserves consideration by all the High Courts on the administrative side, so that, necessary changes to the procedure in place, can be adopted in furtherance of the aims of the SOP. As such, it is directed that a copy of this order be placed before the learned Chief Justice of the High Court, for necessary consideration and appropriate action at their end.

11. While implementation of the entire breadth of the SOP is left to the wisdom of the High Courts, we do hereby direct that the timelines mentioned under Heading 5 of the SOP shall be treated as binding. This is for the purposes of streamlining the filing of appeals in cases where the respective Legal Services Committees are required to take lead. This, it is our hope, will go a long way in addressing the structural gaps that had prompted this Court to take forward the present proceedings apart from dealing with the death reference from which they emanated.

12. Regarding the issue of translators, while we do not issue any directions, we may only observe that the poor quality of translation has engaged the attention of this Court, recently, on quite of few occasions, indicating that some sort of structural change is necessitated in this regard. The respective High Court may seriously examine and take decision on paragraph 6 of the SOP within a time bound period, i.e., not more than four weeks.

13. The aspect of monitoring and accountability as delineated in paragraph 8 of the SOP ensures that there is effective monitoring and 'keeping tabs' on the functioning and processes to be undertaken by the Legal Services Committees of the respective High Courts. Let the necessary constitution of the committee be carried out at the earliest. The Standing Committee/Administrative Committee, may appoint the members either by itself or after consulting the Full Court, as may be warranted. The Member Secretary of HCLSC shall be an ex-officio member. In so far as the constitution of the committee for this Court is concerned, the Member Secretary, SCLSC is directed to bring this order to the notice of the learned Executive Chairman, SCLSC and solicit orders thereon as may be deemed suitable by such authority.

14. On the aspect of coordination with jail authorities and inter-agency communication, the suggestions made in the SOP (para 9) shall be implemented forthwith as far as practicable. The last aspect delineated upon therein i.e., delay explanation (para 13-SOP), in our view, is a necessary change that will enable the tabling of the actual time taken in the process of filing the appeal. It is as such directed that the said format shall be incorporated forthwith into the necessary documentation. We hereby grant two weeks from the date of this order for it to be incorporated after which any appeal filed by HCLSC shall necessarily contain the same.

15. Suggestions 'b' and 'd' of the learned amicus curiae reproduced in paragraph 9 of this order shall be read as directions issued by this Court.

16. The Registrar (Judicial) is directed to circulate a copy of this order to the Registrars General of all the High Courts, who shall ensure a copy of the same is placed before the Learned Chief Justices and the Executive Chairpersons of the State Legal Service Committees, for necessary follow up action and requisite changes as may be required.

Let status report/compliance report be filed by all concerned institutions including the National Informatics Centre, by 30th April 2026. The matter shall come up before this Bench for further consideration on 4th May 2026.

We place on record our appreciation for all counsel who are appearing in this matter and more particularly Ms. Vibha Datta Makhija, learned senior counsel, amicus curiae.
